To whom it may concern,

The Four Bitchin' Babes performed at California State University, Chico on February 16, 2011 to an enthusiastic and smiling audience. Their fabulous singing, excellent songwriting, and wonderful rapport with the audience were rewarded with a long, final curtain, standing ovation.

The Babes were great to work with (receiving compliments from our tech crew), graciously visited our local radio station for a mini-performance and Q&A, and spent more than an hour signing autographs and talking with fans after the event.

Their performance was in turn comedic, poignant, timely, audience friendly, and above all, professional.

It was a pleasure working with them and their excellent representative, Jeff Laramie and the staff at SRO Agency.

Thanks,

Dan
